An invitation to consign

The market for modern and contemporary African art continues to move from strength to strength. With ever-increasing interest from global institutions and international private collectors, 2012 promises to be an thrilling year for both buyers and sellers. As the only international auction house with dedicated sales, Bonhams remain at the forefront of this exciting market.

Entries are now invited for the forthcoming auction, taking place in London on Wednesday 23 May 2012. Over the coming months Bonhams specialists will be travelling the globe appraising works for inclusion in the sale. With presence in twenty-seven countries, we offer an exceptional local service while ensuring our client's works reach the appropriate international market. Please contact us to arrange a complimentary and confidential auction valuation or for further advice on buying or selling at auction.
