New Bond Street, London

An invitation to consign

The market for modern and contemporary African art continues to grow from strength to strength. With ever-increasing interest from global institutions and international private collectors, 2013 looks set to be an exciting year for both buyers and sellers, hot on the heels of the record-breaking sale of El Anatsui's New World Map (£541,250) in our 2012 auction. As the only international auction house with dedicated sales, Bonhams remains at the forefront of the modern and contemporary African art market.

Entries are now invited for our forthcoming auction on 22 May 2013. Bonhams specialists will be travelling the globe appraising works for inclusion in the sale. With presence in twenty-seven countries, we offer an exceptional service while ensuring our clients' works reach the appropriate international market. Please contact us to arrange a complimentary and confidential auction valuation or for further advice on buying or selling at auction.
