About TELOS Art Publishing

Telos is an independent art publishing house in England, founded in 1995. Our aim is to celebrate and promote the work of leading international textile artists in books of lasting beauty. Through our publications, consultancy work with artists and organisations, and our co-publications of catalogues, we encourage textile artists to regain their rightful place in the art world.

Reinventing Textiles

"Issues such as national identity, migration, sexuality, and the imaginary body are eloquently discussed by the authors along with the questioning of textile art itself."
Melinda Young, Object, Australia

"An invaluable tool for students, researchers and the independently curious."
